their communities. Working in underserved neighborhoods of Upper Manhattan, in public schools, community centers, parks and libraries, CAW provides dynamic arts experiences for youth who otherwise lack access. Our programs build confidence, unlock a love of learning, and teach valuable technical, developmental, life and job skills, all while creating profound connections between our young constituents, their art, and their communities. In collaboration with community-based social service organizations, CAW works to break the cycle of low expectations and uses art as a tool to help young people grapple with challenges such as broken homes, domestic violence, homelessness, teen pregnancy, gang violence and re-entry into society after previous incarceration. Students are never charged for participation.

Part III, Line 4d: Other Program Services (Program Expenses - $52,899)

Other program services include exhibitions, development of new initiatives, and In-School ArtWorks. CAW's growing in-school programs, new as of 2012, aim to mitigate the removal of arts education from NYC public schools by providing an arts-based or integrated curriculum during the school day. Professional teaching artists collaborate with school teaching staff and administrators to help them meet mandated arts education requirements and align lesson planning with core curriculum, with demonstrated impacts on school attendance and performance. Curricula are designed in keeping with the New York State Learning Standards for the Arts and the New York City Blueprint for Teaching and Learning in the Arts.
